1. Course Description

This course comprises all aspects of the English language including speaking, pronunciation, listening, reading, and writing. The focus is on improving the students' capacity to communicate clearly and effectively. The syllabus for the lessons on the English language is based on the course books, while the faculty will also use other teaching tools and materials, including suggestions and input received from the students so the content of the class can be more interactive, useful, and interesting. Students are expected to participate as much as possible, which means they will work individually, in pairs, in groups, and with the whole class. The faculty will provide feedback on their spoken and written English and correct errors for the benefit of students at large. This includes basic understanding and use of everyday English phrases, the importance of language skills for information technology professionals, understanding spoken English in various contexts, and improving pronunciation, intonation, and fluency in spoken English and reading strategies like Skimming, Scanning, and Close reading

Additional Practical Works:

Below are some practical works and activities that can improve speaking and listening skills of the students of this course.

- Listening: Various learning tools can be used to provide students with audio recordings of technical discussions, presentations, or interviews. Students can then listen to the recordings and practice their listening skills by answering questions or summarizing what they heard.
  - Pronunciation: Various learning tools can be used to provide students with audio recordings of words and phrases in English. Students can then practice their pronunciation skills by listening to and repeating the words and phrases.
  - Role Play: Various learning tools can be used to simulate real-life scenarios, such as job interviews or customer service interactions. Students can then practice their speaking skills by role-playing the scenarios and receiving feedback from the instructor or other students.
  - Language Testing: Various learning tools can be used to administer speaking and listening tests, or language proficiency tests. Students can then take the tests at the same time and receive instant feedback on their performance.

Note: Faculties can create a small portfolio of tasks for students by integrating all of the above skills.

5. Evaluation system and Student's Responsibilities

Evaluation System

In addition to the formal exam(s), the internal evaluation of a student may consist of quizzes, assignments, lab reports, projects, class participation, etc. The tabular presentation of the internal evaluation is as follows.

| External Evaluation       | Marks | Internal Evaluation              | Weight | Marks |
|---------------------------|-------|----------------------------------|--------|-------|
| Semester-End examination  | 50    | Theory                    |        | 50    |
|                           |       | Attendance & Class Participation | 10%    |       |
|                           |       | Assignments                      | 20%    |       |
|                           |       | Presentations/Quizzes            | 10%    |       |
|                           |       | Internal Assessment              | 60%    |       |
| Total External            | 50    | Total Internal                   |        | 50    |
| Full Marks: 50 + 50 = 100 |       |                                  |        |       |

7. Student's Requirements

Each student must secure at least 45% marks separately in both internal assessment and practical evaluation with 80% attendance in the class in order to appear in the Semester End Examination. Failing to get such a score will be given NOT QUALIFIED (NQ) to appear in the Semester-End Examinations. Students are advised to attend all the classes, formal exams, tests, etc. and complete all the assignments within the specified time period. Students are required to complete all the requirements defined for the completion of the course.
